26 more Filipinos plucked out of harm's way in Japan

By Joy E. Gonsales

MANILA, Philippines — Twenty-six more Filipinos were rescued from a Japanese ship, bringing the total number of rescued Filipino workers to 100. The rescue operation was part of a larger effort to protect Filipino workers abroad, particularly in Japan, where many have been victims of human trafficking and labor abuses.

The rescued workers were taken to a safe haven in Japan, where they will receive medical attention and legal assistance. The Japanese government has pledged to investigate the circumstances surrounding the rescue and to ensure that the workers are not subjected to further harm.

The rescue operation was led by a team of Japanese authorities, including the Maritime Self-Defense Force and the Japan Coast Guard. The team was alerted to the presence of the ship by a report from a local fisherman.

The rescued workers were found in a room on the ship, where they were being held against their will. They were all in good health, but some were suffering from stress and anxiety due to their prolonged confinement.

The Japanese government has expressed its commitment to protecting the rights of all workers, regardless of their nationality. It has also pledged to continue its efforts to identify and rescue other victims of human trafficking and labor abuses.

Phivolcs to scatter 100 quake intensity meters all over PH

By Robert M. Sison

MANILA, Philippines — The Philippine Institute of Volcanology and Seismology (Phivolcs) is planning to scatter 100 earthquake intensity meters all over the Philippines. The meters will be used to monitor the intensity of earthquakes and to provide early warning to the public.

The meters will be placed in strategic locations throughout the country, including in urban areas, coastal regions, and mountainous areas. The data collected from the meters will be used to assess the impact of earthquakes and to develop disaster preparedness plans.

Phivolcs director General Armin Alvarado said that the installation of the meters is part of the institute's ongoing efforts to improve its monitoring and forecasting capabilities. He also emphasized the importance of public awareness and participation in disaster preparedness.

The meters will be installed in a phased manner, starting with the most vulnerable areas. The public is encouraged to report any unusual seismic activity to the nearest Phivolcs office.

Bigger fish behind Burgos disappearance, says CHR

By Joy E. Gonsales

MANILA, Philippines — The Commission on Human Rights (CHR) has accused a "bigger fish" of being behind the disappearance of a Filipino worker in Japan. The worker, identified as a fisherman, was reported missing while working on a Japanese ship.

The CHR has called for a thorough investigation into the case, as it believes that the disappearance is part of a larger pattern of human rights abuses against Filipino workers in Japan. The commission has also urged the Japanese government to cooperate in the investigation.

The CHR has received reports from other Filipino workers in Japan who claim to have been subjected to similar abuses. The commission has expressed its concern for the safety and well-being of these workers and has pledged to continue its efforts to protect their rights.

The rescued workers were taken to a safe haven in Japan, where they will receive medical attention and legal assistance. The Japanese government has pledged to investigate the circumstances surrounding the rescue and to ensure that the workers are not subjected to further harm.

Figure 1 shows a 2D hexagonal lattice. The lattice is composed of hexagonal cells. A central cell is highlighted with a thick border. The cells are arranged in a regular hexagonal pattern, with each cell having six neighbors. The diagram is labeled with 'a' for the lattice constant and 'b' for the bond length. The central cell is labeled '1'.

SO THE PUBLIC MAY KNOW

We assure our depositors and creditors that they should get back all their money because Banco Filipino is not insolvent. The Bank has questioned the action of the Monetary Board for immediately placing it under receivership because if the MB had the interest of the depositors in mind. It should have attended to the relatively small immediate financial support needed by the bank and proceeded with the implementation of the business plan which is approved for Banco Filipino last December 2009 and which the bank had accepted.

The Monetary Board had no basis for its action which caused the heavy withdrawals. The bank had enough collaterals to cover the bank's immediate requirement and the situation should not have magnified. It must be emphasized that when the MB approved the business plan, it confirmed that Banco Filipino is not insolvent and can operate with safety to its depositors and creditors.

Banco Filipino has an inventory of valuable real estate properties which were required thru foreclosures from way back in the 1980's. These properties are covered by many groups. Among its prime properties are 84 hectares in Daang Hari, 78 hectares in Quezon City, 102 hectares in San Jose del Monte/Norzagaray areas, 42 hectares in Naga City, 38 hectares Pogudpod Beach, Ilocos Norte and properties in Las Pintas and Paranaque. These assets have an aggregate value of at least P 30 Billion. Total deposits are only P 15 Billion.

Moreover, Banco Filipino has a damage claim against CB/BSP and the Monetary Board originally set at P 18.8 Billion.

The Monetary Board and the BSP are fully aware of the valuable assets held by the bank which are worth much more than liabilities. All loans originated by the bank are fully secured by real estate properties, aggregate values of which are much more than now that at the time the loans were made.

Since the bank re-opened in 1994, the MB installed a BSP designated Comptroller who "passed upon" all transactions of the Bank and who was required to report directly to the MB any violations of laws, rules and regulations. Banco Filipino was never sanctioned for any unsafe and unsound banking practice.

Banco Filipino is optimistic that the truth about the bank's financial status will come out and there is no basis for BSP to order its closure and place the bank under PDIC receivership.

The diagram illustrates the experimental setup for measuring the rate of reaction. It consists of a reaction vessel (a beaker or flask) containing a solution of a reactant. A stirrer is used to mix the solution, and a thermometer is placed in the solution to monitor its temperature. The reaction vessel is connected to a gas collection system. This system includes a gas syringe, which is used to measure the volume of gas produced during the reaction. The gas syringe is connected to the reaction vessel via a delivery tube. The gas syringe is placed in a water trough, which is used to collect the gas. The gas is displaced by the gas from the reaction vessel, and the volume of gas collected is measured. The diagram is labeled with various components and their functions.

ANALIZĂ Într-o analiză a sistemului de învățământ românesc, realizată în cadrul proiectului "Educația în România: o analiză a sistemului de învățământ", se constată că sistemul de învățământ românesc este în continuare în proces de transformare, fiind încă în etapele inițiale ale reformei. Acest lucru este datorat în primul rând lipsei de resurse umane și financiare necesare pentru a realiza schimbările necesare. În al doilea rând, sistemul de învățământ românesc este încă în proces de adaptare la noile cerințe ale societății, fiind încă în etapele inițiale ale reformei.
